Len was a loving husband and "father" to Coco. I saw a different side of him from many. He always supported Sandy's concern to ensure Coco got the care she so deserved. What an accomplished man that still made time for his little girl Coco 🐱

Len was also a great humanitarian. While living in Maryland, before moving down to Florida 36 years ago, he served on our County's Human Relations Commission. He was instrumental in establishing many structural reforms, within both the County Police Department, and the County Board of Education, for the betterment of the County, and it's people, as a whole.

Len was an awesome husband, of 60 years, and both a loving father to Sherry and John, and an adoring grandfather to Jeremy and Samantha. He was also an investigative journalist, and a "New York Times" best selling author. He will truly be missed by many.
