Giovanni V. Maggio

DEC 16, 1937 - AUG 12, 2023

Afterglow:
I'd like the memory of me to be a happy one. I'd like to leave an afterglow of smiles when life is done. I'd like to leave an echo whispering softly down the ways, Of happy times and laughing times and bright and sunny days. I'd like the tears of those who grieve, to dry before the sun; Of happy memories that I leave when life is done.”

Vincenzo Milione lit a candle in honor of Giovanni.

With great sadness I write this but with great happiness I reminisce of my early years with my cousin John Maggio. When I was young he was like an older brother to me. He would regularly come to visit my mother and his aunt. We spend much time together and discuss everything. He was proud of me and would visit me at the universities where I attended at Stony Brook and Buffalo. After I got my first job in the government in Washington D.C. he visited me and we had a memorable time that I still have on video tape. Unfortunately, later family responsibilities and distance kept us away. I would always think of the times we had together and his advice to me. I am glad we able to talk at little and I heard his voice a few weeks ago, praying that God would not take him and I would have more opportunities to talk to him later. Unfortunately, later is now and he is in God's hands. John/Giovanni I will always remember our times together....God has blessed you.Your cousinVincenzo Milione

It's never easy losing a loved one, but losing a grandparent is one of the hardest things I've had to face. My grandfather was the most selfless person I've ever met especially when it came to his grandchildren. I never once doubted the love he had for me or my family. He worked hard to provide and care for his family and still had a smile on his face at the end of the day. Growing up I did not get to see him that often but when I would come visit the smile on his when I would walk through the door was everything you could just see the excitement on his face. He was everything to me, he was my joy, my light, my happiness and now there is a hole in my heart that aches for him. He taught me how to be strong, to work hard, to never give up and to love unconditionally. I'm so proud and honored to have been his granddaughter and to call him my Nonno. I know he is looking down on us watching over us and protecting us. He would be so happy of all the love surrounding him. Nonno I'll love and miss you for the rest of my life, this is not a goodbye it's I'll see you soon. Rest in peace Nonno you'll never be forgotten. Your legacy will live on through your children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.

This is a hard time for me writing something for someone who has been part of my life since birth and who means the world to me and suddenly not here anymore. My relationship with my Nonno "Grandfather" has been a very special, one from when I was a baby until now. As I am thinking about all the special memories and times I had with him brings a big smile to my face. Memories from a baby living in a two-family home after I would wake up in the morning I would want to go down the stairs and knock on their door and say "Nonno Me in" was for him to open the door to his home so I could see him. he loved animals and would share his joy and bring me to see different animals at auctions, or a small animal farm when we lived in Long Island NY. I too grew to love animals as much as he did. Nonno would take care of all my pets when I needed him to care for them, again without any hesitation. Whenever I needed a ride to the bus stop or school when my parents were not able to take me he was there to take me with no hesitation. As I grew up and started to take an interest in cars, we would take a ride to see classic cars and sports cars and sit for hours just talking about cars. Nonno always knew when I was in the room because I would come in and say, Ayeeee ohhhhhhhh Giovanni and he would say back to me Ayeeee Ohhhhhh Chris, "in his Sicilian Accent"! Nonno we almost made it that you would have been in my life for 22 years but having you in my life for 21 years has been the best. This past year really showed me how strong of fighter you were. Nonno you have influenced my life since the day I was born. I love you and you will always have a place in my heart. The memories and laughs we had will always stay with me forever. It was a true honor to have you in my life and to call my Nonno. Nonno may you rest in peace and be free from all suffering. Love you until we meet again one day. Love, Chris

Losing a loved one is one of the most difficult things we can go through, but so much more if it is a parent! This week we will lay my dad, Giovanni, to rest. After a year and half of suffering, he is finally at peace. As I sit here thinking of what the last year and a half had been like for him, I realized what an incredibly strong man he was! I realized that it was that strength and drive that he passed onto me. He never gave up and only stood up to any challenge he was presented. He was a very hard worker that never called in sick. He ensured that his family had enough to be happy but maintained a desire to succeed. He had a love for cars, which he certainly passed down to me, my brother and his grandsons. He loved all animals from horses to chickens. I am not sure I would have become the man I did without his guidance, and at times his discipline. He was a hard man with a soft spot for the people he loved. He loved his family and grandchildren greatly and was so incredibly honored to have his great-grandson named after him. Dad – you will forever be in my heart and I will miss you! Until we meet again! Love, Ben

I am writing this post with great difficulty. My father passed away on 8/12/23. While we knew he was close to the end, nothing can prepare you for the death of a loved one. You were an amazing father and I'm so proud to be your son. Dad you will always have a special place in my heart and the memories we shared will never be forgotten. I feel so lost and broken, but knowing you will be looking down on me will give me strength. It's never goodbye but until we meet again. |love you dad.

I'm at a loss of words. This is a moment in everyone's life that no one wants to look forward to and no one is ever ready for this moment to come. You were an amazing amazing grandfather and I'm happy that you were apart of my life. You came to America from Sicily with nothing but wanting to live the American dream. Well I'm happy to say that you have accomplished that. Coming from Sicily to New York you met an amazing woman and had two sons, a grandfather of four, and a great grandfather to one. You have accomplished more than most people who wanted the same dream. You provided a couple of homes for your family, had your love for animals, and something we had in common which is a passion for cars. You have been in my life since the day I was born through growing up to the man I am today. You were always there from living downstairs from me only just being a couple steps away to only being down the road when we moved to Florida. We had our many laughs during the holidays with stories from the past. I will always remember you always noticed my new pair of Nikes and said you wanted a pair too or when you would come over for Sunday dinner I would say Giovanni como se fa and it would put a smile on your face. I know when my son was born you were honored that I named after you. I wish I am able to tell you it's the other way around, I'm honored to have a grandfather like you to name my son after. You will always be in my heart and my son will carry your name with honor and pride. As you smiled when I told use to tell you como se fa welcoming you in my house I would like to say this as a goodbye knowing you looking down on me smiling. Nonno, grazie per essere stato un nonno fantastico per tutta la vita. Ti voglio bene Nonno e sarai sempre nel mio cuore. Arrivederci e riposa in pace. Amo tuo nipote Nicolas
