Afterglow

I'd like the memory of me to be a happy one. I'd like to leave an afterglow of smiles when life is done. I'd like to leave an echo whispering softly down the ways, Of happy times and laughing times and bright and sunny days. I'd like the tears of those who grieve, to dry before the sun; Of happy memories that I leave when life is done.

Romans 8:38-39

"Nothing Shall separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus."

My cousin John was the proverbial "favorite cousin." His inimitable smile and infectious laugh were responsible for this designation. Despite being the older cousin, he always found the time to play with the younger ones. And play we did! "Sure Shot Baseball," "Shootout at the OK Corral," "Paint Stirrer Hockey," "Monster," etc. Thank you John. Rest easy cuz. Get that extra piece of Grandma's pizza. We will see you again. 🙏❤️

My brother John was a BIG man. Not only big in stature, but he had a big heart, a big laugh, a big love for people, and a very big love for family. I was the big brother, but my brother lived his life showing me and everyone who knew him how to live a life of truth and meaning. He was a man of character, honesty, diligence, and heroism. He fought cancer once and beat it into submission. He wore his Superman shirt and sang Karaoke. When it reared its ugly head a second time he persevered, remained optimistic, went to work and lived life. He had fun and laughed. John made a great number of friends with his ebullient personality. Although we were separated by distance, we would talk frequently and text and I would always cherish my visit to his home in Florida or his visit to the Jersey shore. My brother John always said to me that I saved his life a few times. But what I told him and made sure he knew, that he was the one who saved me. He was a living example of strength and fortitude, and how to love life and your family. He was so happy with Cathy and their beautiful family. Growing up was great fun because we shared the same room and would always find ways to tease our older sister Mary. We had great parents and a great childhood and we were always grateful for that. John was grounded in his love of God and it was his constant reminders about staying close to God, something our mother always taught us, that pulled me back from my too busy life to the narrow path where I needed to be. So my little brother saved me. He was so big to me. He was a great man with such a beautiful heart. I love my brother so much and I already miss him so deeply. But I know he is in a beautiful place and I ask him in my prayers to please save a place for me because I truly believe we'll be together again. I also asked him not to eat all the cannolis or save me a half. I love you, John. The world has lost a spark but your mark in this world endures forever Victor

I think most young boys have an older guy they look up to. For me, it was my older cousin John. He always looked cool. He took Karate. He was four years older so he drove much sooner than I. I idolized my big cousin. How excited I was every time we would visit! When we were together, I followed him all around. As a toddler, I watched him descend our basement stairs and, of course, I followed him. Unfortunately, I was not quite able to navigate stairs yet and took a tumble. Oh well... that's the price you pay to be in the presence of coolness. I was jealous of how tall he was. Despite reassurances, I never did catch up. In some ways, I remained in his shadow. It was always a safe and fun place. As an adult, I admired his laugh. He was always smiling, and when he wasn't smiling, he was laughing with an inimitable twinkle in his eyes. Even in the rare instance of frustration, he would say something funny and start laughing. I don't think John had a mean bone in his body. Just a genuine nice guy. I'm heartbroken. I'm going to miss my beautiful cousin so much. It helps to know you're up there laughing and smiling.

For cousin Vic, Carolyn and Family, May God sustain you throughout this very difficult time. May he comfort you and give you strength. Know that his love will never leave you, it cannot because love never dies. One day you will see him again. Please know that you're in my thoughts and prayers along with so many people who are thinking of you. O Vic I'm so sorry your going through all this grief. Louise and family

We are heartbroken to say goodbye to a man who taught us the meaning of true devotion. Above all else, we will remember the unwavering love he held for my mother Cathy a bond that was a beautiful example to us all. He stepped into my life and became my second father, a role he embraced completely. And when my daughter arrived, she instantly found a special place in his heart. She brought a light into his eyes that we will never forget, and the easy, instant bond they shared was a constant source of joy. His love touched every generation of our family, and his legacy is the love he leaves behind. Forever he lives inside us all and all around us. We love you Grandpa John

My heart is broken ... Sad to say I lost one of my buddies.. Johnny boy ! We worked together for about 19 years .. he was an amazing friend , co worker and mentor for me threw out the years .. not everyone got to see but he truly had a heart of kindness.. he practiced selflessness .. I have a lot of fond memories with John and he was one of my ... t cheerleaders in my life as well as my career. He always gave me such encouragement.. and good advice I surely miss that. Ill miss our talks for sure.. Rest e friend...I will miss you .

You were a great man.. keep heaven laughing. see you again.

And as you would say. FUCK CANCER !
