Nitin Saini

SEP 13, 1966 - FEB 2, 2026

Afterglow
I'd like the memory of me to be a happy one.
I'd like to leave an afterglow of smiles when life is done.
I'd like to leave an echo whispering softly down the ways,
Of happy times and laughing times and bright and sunny days.
I'd like the tears of those who grieve, to dry before the sun;
Of happy memories that I leave when life is done.

In lieu of flowers, please donate to Johns Hopkins Children's Hospital, in memory of Nitin.

In loving memory of Nitin it's hard to put into words what Nitin meant to all of us at IBM. He was the kind of colleague who made the workplace better simply by being part of it. No matter how busy he was, Nitin was always forthcoming to help — stepping in without hesitation, offering guidance, and making time for others when it mattered most. Beyond his professionalism, Nitin brought warmth, integrity, and kindness into our daily work. He left a lasting mark not only on our projects, but on our lives. He will be deeply missed and fondly remembered. My thoughts and prayers are with his family.

Nitin Saini will always be remembered for his infectious positivity and terrific attitude. No matter the circumstance, he brought warmth, optimism, and a genuine smile to those around him. I had the privilege of being his IBM manager a few years ago, and it was clear that Nitin approached both his work and his relationships with professionalism, enthusiasm, and positivity. One memory that stands out is our time together in San Francisco during a client visit. Beyond the formal meetings, Nitin truly shined in the way he connected with the client on a personal level. We spent time together outside of meetings and Nitin understood that strong relationships mattered just as much as the work itself. Nitin's happiness was authentic, and his presence left a lasting impact. He will be deeply missed by myself and the rest of his IBM family.

I am deeply saddened by the loss of one of our nicest teammates. We worked together on the same product years ago and I always admired Nitin's technical expertise, willingness to learn and contribute. The entire team will miss him tremendously. I feel fortunate to have met him in person when he visited Toronto. My heartfelt condolences to his family.

Dear Nitin, Though you were my uncle, growing up, I always saw you as an older brother I did not have. You were Neetu to me. I remember how, at my mum's urging, you tried to be my math tutor, then told my mum they should just let me be. I will be most grateful for that advice. I remember the rotten ghost pranks you and Paras used to play on me during the nightly loadshedding era in Delhi, just to tease me. You were kinder and gentler and would often stop the prank before I actually got to a howling point. Thank you for being there for me when I was a little girl who wanted a big brother because everyone else had one, and since you were 10 houses away, you had to step in. Thank you for listening to my silly stories and not running away. Thank you for sharing the Tintin, Archie's and Commando comics. My father and mother, Umesh bhaiya, and Veena Bhabhi to you, are devastated since the news came. Sonali and the girls, we can only offer our prayers. This is too big a loss. Seema

Nitin, my friend, my brotherThe past few days have been filled with memories of all the time we spent back in St Columba's School. The mind went back to us sitting in class. The teachers would be doing their thing, but our minds was on food! You would bring a tiffin box with parathas and ande ki bhurji and I would have idlis or dosas. Not a day passed where we did not exchange our lunch. Not a day. This obsession got us to hang out at each other's homes.While we were not in class or each other's homes, we would be hanging out in the Green Park or Safdarjung Enclave markets. We would be on the bus, laughing at some silly joke about teachers, or cheering if we saw a pretty face from the neighboring school, playing dumb charades or 20 questions, singing songs, mouthing dialogs from the latest movie...how fun!As we grew up, we ended up being in different continents, but the roots of our friendship ensured that we always wished each other on our respected Virgo birthdays. We would rib each other about Tampa Bay Bucs and the Green Bay Packers. We talked about meeting up either in the US or India, but didn't get to do that much.I saw you in 2018, after nearly 30 years, when work brought me to Tampa. We met for dinner. We had pizza, but the smiles on our faces suggest it might as well have been ande ki bhurji for me and idlis for Nitin. It was like we were right back in 1983!Nitin, buddy, will miss you. You left too soon. But, you will forever be in my heart. Rest in peace, brother.Ashok Vasan

I am deeply saddened to hear of Nitin's passing. We shared our days in graduate school, and even then, his presence stood out in the gentlest way. Quiet and unassuming, someone who went about his life with grace and purpose. I never once heard Nitin speak ill of anyone. Instead, he carried himself with kindness, a genuine love for life, and a smile that always seemed to come effortlessly. Some people don't need to be loud to leave a lasting impression—Nitin was one of them. His calm demeanor and warmth are memories we will always carry with us. My heart goes out to Sonali and the two daughters. Nitin was far too young, and the loss feels profoundly unfair. He will be always be remembered for being a good, decent human being. Rest in peace, my friend. Hitpreet Kang.

Sonali and family, Very sorry for your incredible loss! Nitin was a quiet pillar of strength to every group/team - unlike many others, Nitin spoke when he wanted to help or add value, and always managed to calm down a stressful situation. He had an amazing ability to bring leadership to a call without raising his voice and his deep expertise instantly commanded respect - both from IBMers and customers. What great person he was to me. I am now a stranger in a strange land without Nitin. I hope his family works through this and I send all my love to them. Now I really regret him not being able to make my Yearly BBQ party at my house last year. I did try to lure him here with postings from Space Camp and the Space Center. Bobbee B

We are heartbroken by the sudden and untimely passing of our dear friend, Nitin. We send our deepest love, prayers, and strength to Sonali, Shivani, Aarini, and the entire family. Our friendship with Nitin and Sonali spans thirty years, and it has truly been a blessing to know them. Their eldest daughter and our son have been friends since they were babies. Over the years we have shared many wonderful times together—meals, celebrations, laughter, and moments we will always cherish. We were fortunate to meet many of their family members and friends, including their parents, and those memories are especially precious now. Nitin was intelligent, kind, and quietly mischievous in the most endearing way. We can still see his warm smile and hear his gentle laugh. He was a devoted husband and father, a steady and calming presence who supported Sonali and the girls with unwavering love. His absence will be deeply felt by everyone who had the privilege of knowing him. Rest peacefully, dear friend. May you be reunited with the loved ones who went before you. To Sonali, Shivani, and Aarini—may your happiest memories bring you comfort and carry you through this difficult time. Stay strong. We love you, and we are here for you always. I had the privilege of being his colleague for many years and recently his manager, and I saw firsthand the dedication, compassion, and quiet strength he brought to every day. His beautiful life was cut far too short, and his absence leaves a profound void in all of us who knew and loved him. To Sonali and his beautiful daughters — he loved you beyond words. May his spirit continue to guide and protect you always. You will never be forgotten, Nitin. Our thoughts and prayers are with you during this unimaginably difficult time. He carried a quiet kindness, a gentle spirit, and a rare awareness that made people feel seen and at ease. There was warmth in his presence. The kind that doesn't demand attention, but is deeply felt. He will be remembered not only for who he was, but for how he made others feel—seen, lighter, and more hopeful. My dearest Mamu, You were a man of few words and a heart vast with love. Your phone calls, your remembering of birthdays and anniversaries, your steady, gentle presence through the years have never gone unnoticed. I am shattered knowing you have left us. My heart is broken. You were an anchor to us all! a calm and constant love in a world that was shifting too fast. You never asked for much, yet your love filled every space you were in. I remember the drive to the airport after my visit the two of us sitting in silence. We didn't need words. We had each other, and in that quiet moment I had all the reassurance and love I needed. I remember the time I came to visit with Conor and you made us Aloo tikki burgers like Nani would. I remember the holidays we all spent at D15, the fruit salads, and evergreen chole bhature, I remember your laughter making jokes with mom. I remember our trip to Disney world, I remember when you came to surprise Nani nani on their anniversary and stayed with us in Bombay. I remember finding photos of you when you were younger and seeing the same curly hair I saw in mom. That is how I will always remember you. In stillness. In love, and in all of us. You are united with mom, Nani and Nanu and I hope you are at peace. Love you with all my heart.
